

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

The present invention relates to amylases having improved washing performance in an alkaline detergent solution at low temperature. More specifically, 5 the present invention provides novel α -amylases from Bacillus sp. with improved performance in alkaline solutions, especially in alkaline detergent solutions at pH around 9-11.